

The Sydney Morning Herald.

N°. 14,400.

SYDNEY, THURSDAY, MAY 22, 1884.

PRICE 2d.

12 PAGES.

BIRTHS.
EDWARDS.—May 14, at her residence, Dandridge, the wife of John S. Edwards, solicitor, of a daughter.
EDWARD.—May 14, at 4:30 p.m., at her residence, Strawberry Hills, the wife of John Edward, of a daughter.
ROSE.—May 14, at The Meads, Edfield, near Sydney, N. S. W., the wife of Alex. Gordon Rose, of a son.
EMYTHE.—May 16, at Summer Hill, the wife of Edward Smyth, of a son.

MARRIAGES.
HAYWARD.—TRUMBLE.—May 5, at Christ Church, Brunswick, Victoria, by the Rev. J. Carlile, Rural Dean, son of the Rev. E. A. Thomas, the Rev. A. G. Thomas, eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hayward, of Kensington Park, New South Wales, to Miss Eliza Jane (of Ivy Lodge, Brunswick), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John (of the same) Gurney, and Parkinson, of Victoria.

LYDE.—At her residence, 8, Domaine, Ipswich, England, the late William Lyde, aged 49 years, after long and painful illness, leaving his wife and two children to deplore their loss.

MARTIN.—April 20, 1884, at 12 m., Rev. John Morris, of a son, at his residence, 10, New Cavendish Street, Densely regretted.

WANCE.—In loving remembrance of Joseph Vance, of Kangaroo Valley, who departed this life May 20, 1884.

DEATHS.
BLIX.—May 20, at Rosenthal, Noemus's Bay, Theodore John Pritchard, citizen son of C. F. Blix, aged 21 years.

COUCH.—May 20, at her residence, Unley, South Australia, the wife of John Couch, aged 80 years. Beloved by all who knew her.

LYDE.—At her residence, 8, Domaine, Ipswich, England, the late William Lyde, aged 49 years, after long and painful illness, leaving his wife and two children to deplore their loss.

MARTIN.—April 20, 1884, at 12 m., Rev. John Morris, of a son, at his residence, 10, New Cavendish Street, Densely regretted.

WANCE.—In loving remembrance of Joseph Vance, of Kangaroo Valley, who departed this life May 20, 1884.

SHIPPING.

PACIFIC MAIL STEAMSHIP COMPANY.
TO PASSENGERS REGARDING THE HEAT AND UNCOMFORT OF THE RED SEA.

OVERLAND ROUTE TO GREAT BRITAIN.
under contract with New South Wales and New Zealand Governments.

The magnificence of the new Line for San Francisco (calling at Australia and Honolulu) every fourth THURSDAY, at 8 p.m., as under:

Steamer. Date of Departure.

ZEALANDIA ... 2500 May 22, 1884. Aug 14

CITY OF SYDNEY ... 2500 May 22, 1884. Aug 14

ATLANTIC ... 2500 May 22, 1884. Aug 14

Passengers are booked on or about the principal Railroad Routes in the United States and Canada, or through Liverpool, London, or Paris, to the principal ports of the Atlantic Ocean, and the principal ports of the Maritimes, Atlantic, and St. Lawrence Rivers, and other lines. All first-class passengers and steamer-keepers will be accommodated in the best manner.

Passenger rates will be as follows:—

Amusements.

THEATRE ROYAL.
Under the direction of
M. WILLIAMSON, GARNER, and MUSGOVE.
LAWES... Mr. S. Lazar, Treasurer, Geo. L. Goodman.
Orchestra at 7.15 Carriages, 10.45.

SECOND WEEK
SECOND WEEK
of IMPULS
IMPULS.

AN EMMATIC ELEGANT TRIUMPH.

THE PRESS SAYS:—

"As the play progressed laughter was frequent, and at the close of the first act the principal character, a Captain, found it upon him to say: 'La Maison du Maré', but he succeeded in giving it a thoroughly English tone. The plot in all its episodes is interesting, and the scenes are well arranged, while the action is brisk and rapid."—Sydney Morning Herald.

"The play goes on with great interest, and only ends at the end of the second act, but at the end of every act was the curtain raised in response to the applause of an enthusiastic audience."—Daily Telegraph.

"A profound and interesting drama, containing numerous situations agreeably varying from the pathetic to the humorous. The characters are drawn with great skill, and most of them are frank and natural, while the dialogue is pointed, and occasionally sparkling."—Evening News.

"The whole drama comes with truth and completeness, and with elements of pathos, which, after the generality of modern plays, are so refreshing."—Echo.

THIS AND EVERY EVENING,

IMPULS.

A new Play by B. C. STEPHENSON.
Mrs. Barrett... Miss Maggie Moore
Mrs. Macdonald... Miss Annie Mayor
Miss Kilmore... Miss Annie Taylor
Miss... Miss...
Mr. Harry Alexander... Mr. Arthur Redmond
Colonel Macdonald... Mr. Herbert Brammer
Captain... Mr. J. H. C. Hodge
Victor de Rulac... Mr. Philip Day
Graham... Mr. H. C. Bennett
Parker... Mr. Lance Lenten.
Price... 2/-

NEW SCENEY IN TWO GORDON.

The Handicrafts Furniture and Art Decorations from
HAMILTON'S GLOBE FURNITURE WORKSHOUSE.
Prices as usual, and a 10% discount for the month. Box office open daily from 11.45 a.m. to 4.30 p.m.

Stage Manager, Mr. HARRY BENNETT.
Ladies... W. J. Wilson.

Mr. FOLES'S FAREWELL TO AUSTRALIA.

LAST NIGHT FOR FOLK IN AUSTRALIA,

THE STRATEGIST,

THE STRATEGIST.

A HEARTY LAUGH FOR THE DOGS.

COME AND SEE THE LAST NIGHT OF

MISS POLA CHARMING SONGS.

TO-MORROW, FRIDAY, MAY 24th, Grand COMPLIMENTARY BENEFIT to Miss JULIA A. POOL.
PRICES... Dr. 1/-, Children, 1/-.
CIT, ONLY ONE SHILLING.

Reserved seats at HAMILTON'S, 100 Pitt-street, at 8.30 p.m.
Business Manager.

ACADEMY OF F.M.S.C.
Lectures and Managers... Mr. F. R. Hines.

The Evening's Fashions, Report
CONTINUOUS CONVERSATION, CONVERSATION, HIBERNIAN FEDERAL MINISTERS AND SOCIETY, together with the WARVELLOWS and ANTONINOS.

In their new program, containing a whirlwind of laughter from beginning to end.

LAST NIGHT BUT ONE, LAST NIGHT BUT ONE,

of the last night.

LAST NIGHTS OF BENTY'S COMIC HISTORY OF ENGLAND, and THEATRE OF MIRTH.

LAST NIGHTS HANNAH IN ROUTE.

In active, elaborate preparation, at a great expense, the grand Military Drama entitled "HANNAH IN ROUTE".

"WENT WARD HO."

which will be produced on SATURDAY next, May 24th, together with an entire change of programme. See future advertisements with full details.

Admission—Pantaloons, 4/-; reserved seats, 5/-; second seats, 3/-; balcony, 1/-; the plan at Pall Mall's Music Warehouse, George-street, provides the places for this entertainment as supplied.

Carriages at 10.15.

GRAND FAREWELL CONCERT,

prior to leaving Australia for Scotland.

Mr. A. WILLIAMSON will give a Grand CONCERT in the Protestant Hall on Saturday, May 24th, instant.

Mr. A. WILLIAMSON will give a Grand CONCERT in the Protestant Hall, on Saturday, May 24th, instant.

COITIERS' People's Concerts, every Saturday Evening,
J. Protestant Hall, Castle-cragg, 1/-.

RECK OF THE ARGOSY.—Last Rehearsal TO-NIGHT, Reception Concert.

THANDRELL'S ANNIVERSARY will be celebrated in the Protestant Hall, Tuesday evening, June 5.

SYDNEY TURF CLUB.

SYDNEY TURF CLUB.

24th MAY. QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY. 24th MAY.

Patron:

His Excellency LORD AUGUSTUS LOFTUS, G.C.M.

Under the management of the Committee of the S. T. C.

Programme:

The HURDLE RACE, of 100 yards, to start at 1.30 p.m.

THE ROYAL RACE, of 200 yards, to start at 1.15 p.m.

LUNCH.

The MAY STAKES, of 200 yards, to start at 2.30 p.m.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY CUP, of 200 yards, to start at 3.15 p.m.

The HURDLE PLATE, of 200 yards, to start at 4.30 p.m.

The LADY'S BRACELET, to start at 4.30 p.m.

Professional trainers can obtain tickets for themselves and their jockeys on FRIDAY, 24th instant, up to 6 o'clock.

Members of the Turf Club can obtain Ladies' Tickets free of charge.

The Public will please note that the FIRST RACE will be started at HALF-PAST 12 O'CLOCK.

T. S. CLIBORN, Secy. to the S. T. C.

N. S. W. COURSING CLUB.

VICTORIA N. S. W.

THE FIRST WATERLOO CUP will be run at ROTHY HILL, 22nd May, 1884.

THURSDAY.

The COMPAGNION CATERING COMPANY will provide

LUNCHEON and LIQUORS on the Ground.

A SPECIAL TRAIN will leave REDFERN STATION

at 4.45 p.m.

"Run" will meet the train.

JAMES PERRY, Secretary.

SATURDAY IS A HOLIDAY.

BICYCLE and TRICYCLE CHAMPION RACE MEETING.

ASSOCIATION CRICKET GROUND,
SATURDAY, May 24.

All the BEST RIDERS are competing. Over 100 entries have been received.

SPORTS COMMENCE AT 11 a.m.

NAVAL BRIGADE BAND will play musical selections.

TRAMS RUN TO THE GROUND. Fare, 5d.

Ranwicks and Coopers Trams stop opposite the GROUND.

GRAND PARADE OF CYCLISTS.

THE MEETING will be

THE LARGEST and BIGGEST CYCLISTS' MEETING that has been held in Australia.

THE QUEEN'S SCHOOL AMATEUR ATHLETIC SPORTS—Association Cricket Match, 24th May.

Match, 1.30 p.m. at the Oval, 100 Pitt-street, Sydney.

Match, 1.30 p.m. at the Oval, 100 Pitt-street, Sydney.

THE SYDNEY THISTLE CLUB'S HIGHGATE GATHERED with their wives and friends, Saturday, May 24th.

ALEX. HAMILTON, Hon. Secretary.

THE THISTLE PRIZES of the Thistle Club's Highgate and Oval, will be given in W. KERR'S WIndow,

George-street, Sydney.

THE INTER-COLONIAL FOOTBALL.

Scratch Match will be held THURSDAY AFTERNOON, at ULTIMUS C.C. Broughton Saturday, 24th; club with ground preferred, T. Archer, 188, Harris-street, Sydney.

SURRY UNITED v. CROYDON, next Saturday, on the Oval, 100 Pitt-street, Sydney.

SURRY UNITED C. C. GROUND to LET next

Saturday, W. Hume, Bourke-street, Sydney.

MARSHFIELD C. C. will celebrate their third

Anniversary with a Picnic and Games, and SUPPER, in the Town Hall, Pitt-street, Sydney.

W. R. FRENCH, Secy.

ALEXANDRIA C. C. with Ground Disengaged, Queen's

Birthday, J. Macintosh, 807, Pitt-street.

SYDNEY OWL CLUB.

NOTICE—Members are respectfully informed that the issue of

TICKETS for the Annual Ball is ready, and will be for distribution to Members only, and to Friends of the Club, after which which day they will be for friends of Ours.

F. L. CLARK, Hon. Treasurer, & Co.

MONDAY, 28th May.

C. HALL'S Assembly THIS

WEDNESDAY, 30th May.

AN EMMATIC ELEGANT TRIUMPH.

THE PRESS SAYS:—

"As the play progressed laughter was frequent, and at the close of the first act the principal character, a Captain, found it upon him to say: 'La Maison du Maré', but he succeeded in giving it a thoroughly English tone.

The plot in all its episodes is interesting, and the scenes are well arranged, while the action is brisk and rapid."—Sydney Morning Herald.

"The play goes on with great interest, and only ends at the end of the second act, but at the end of every act was the curtain raised in response to the applause of an enthusiastic audience."—Daily Telegraph.

"A profound and interesting drama, containing numerous situations agreeably varying from the pathetic to the humorous.

The characters are drawn with great skill, and most of them are frank and natural, while the dialogue is pointed, and occasionally sparkling."—Evening News.

"The whole drama comes with truth and completeness, and with elements of pathos, which, after the generality of modern plays, are so refreshing."—Echo.

THIS AND EVERY EVENING,

IMPULS.

A new Play by B. C. STEPHENSON.

Mrs. Barrett... Miss Maggie Moore

Mrs. Macdonald... Miss Annie Mayor

Miss Kilmore... Miss Annie Taylor

Mr. Harry Alexander... Mr. Arthur Redmond

Colonel Macdonald... Mr. Herbert Brammer

Captain... Mr. J. H. C. Hodge

Victor de Rulac... Mr. Philip Day

Graham... Mr. H. C. Bennett

Parker... Mr. Lance Lenten.

Price... 2/-

NEW SCENEY IN TWO GORDON.

The Handicrafts Furniture and Art Decorations from

HAMILTON'S GLOBE FURNITURE WORKSHOUSE.

Prices as usual, and a 10% discount for the month. Box office open daily from 11.45 a.m. to 4.30 p.m.

Stage Manager, Mr. HARRY BENNETT.

Ladies... W. J. Wilson.

Mr. FOLES'S FAREWELL TO AUSTRALIA.

LAST NIGHT FOR FOLK IN AUSTRALIA,

THE STRATEGIST,

THE STRATEGIST.

A HEARTY LAUGH FOR THE DOGS.

COME AND SEE THE LAST NIGHT OF

ARRIVAL OF THE ENGLISH MAIL, VIA SUEZ, AT ALBANY.

(BY TELEGRAPH.)
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

ALBANY, WEDNESDAY.

The P. and O. Company's steamer Carthage, which arrived last night, brings the English mails to April 18. The following is a summary of news brought by her:

LONDON, APRIL 18.

A letter from her Majesty the Queen to Sir William Harcourt, dated Windsor, 10th, has been published, in which the Queen desires her wish to thank her subjects most warmly for the loving sympathy and loyalty displayed in her late grievous bereavement. The Queen says:—"The affectionate sympathy of my loyal people, which has never failed me in weal or woe, very soothed to my heart. Though much shaken and sorely afflicted by the many sorrows and trials which have fallen upon me during these past years, yet not lost courage, and with the help of him who has ever forsaken me, will survive to the end of the day of my children and the end of my country. I love so well, as long as I can. My dear daughter-in-law, the Duchess of Albany, who bears her terrible misfortune with most admirable, touching, and unmurmuring resignation to the will of God, is also deeply gratified by the universal sympathy and kind feeling evinced towards her. I would wish in conclusion to express my gratitude to all the other countries for their sympathy, above all to the neighbouring ones where my beloved son breathed his last; and for the great respect and kindness shown on that mournful occasion."

The Queen and Princess Beatrice arrived at Dartmouth yesterday morning, via Southampton.

The closing of Parliament, and the recess was followed by a political campaign in the provinces. Lord Randolph Churchill and Colonial Secretary have arrived at Birmingham to canvass their constituents in view of the next general election, when they will offer themselves as candidates. Sir William Vernon Harcourt, however, in a speech at Derby last night, ridiculed the idea of the Government dissolving Parliament at the present time with a majority of 120 at their back.

The difficulty between Nuber Peaha and Mr. Clifford Lloyd has been arranged, the former having withdrawn his resignation, it being understood that Mr. Lloyd's functions will in future be confined to those of an Egyptian Under-Secretary of State.

Mr. Jules Ferry has sent a note to the French Ambassador in London, the H. B. C. Bill which is now before the French Senate. The note sets out the substance of M. Ferry's verbal reply to Lord Lyons in last January, that the transportation of criminals to New Caledonia or any other of the French colonies is a matter of internal policy with which no foreign Power has any concern, and to which international law cannot apply in any way.

The French press fully endorses the view of M. Ferry, and the Liberte describes the action of the Australian colonists as an attempt on their part to establish the Monroe doctrine in the Pacific, and to exclude France from New Caledonia and the New Hebrides. The Times has published a very cogent letter, signed "Australian," which discusses the probable consequences if France persists in her intention of sending New Caledonia to her criminal seaway, and points out that the colonists, if driven to the wall, would take the law in their own hands, and end the difficulty by seizing New Caledonia.

The freedom of the city of Dunedin has been conferred on Lord Rosebery, who, in acknowledging the honour, observed that since returning home he had been surprised at the indifference with which English regarded her distant possessions all over the world, and he contrasted this with the present activity of the French colonial policy. The speaker regarded the colonies as breeding-places on which the British Empire has to depend as a means of keeping the Empire together. He urged the extension of local self-government and local administration. Lord Rosebery said he had received a note from his antecedent, a warm friend and an ardent champion of the Australian colonies, and had expressed himself as delighted with the "Radiant Continent," as he has "scrivited it."

GOSPEL TEMPERANCE MISSION.

The concluding meeting in connection with the Gospel Temperance Mission of Mr. W. F. Foster, was held in the Tabernacle, Pitt-street, on Saturday evening, when a large assembly was present. The Rev. W. A. Pain read from the Scripture, and the Rev. S. Williamson, in his address, said that the time of his address, referred to the enthusiasm which had been manifested in the course of the mission, and hoped that that enthusiasm would be well shown that evening in the collection which was to be made, the object of which he would now name. Mr. J. H. Booth was in the audience. (Laughter.) Two hymns and a solo were sung while the collection was proceeding.

Mr. Booth, on rising, was met with the greatest enthusiasm, and then said, "I am present for the first time, and have not experienced. He thanked the chairman for the manner in which he had spoken of him that evening. He felt that his heart was too full to express all his feelings. His heart condition forbids in nearly all parts of the world, but he had now had a hearty laugh, and was in spirits, and the confidence in Sydney. (Laughter.) He thought that the thanks of all interested in the movement should be given to those who had done so much to further the good cause in the colonies. (Applause.)

The Post Mall Gazette, this evening, contains a typical article in response to M. Jules Ferry's last diplomatic note. It asks whether if England shipped all her habitual criminals to Jersey, leaving them absolutely free to go where they pleased, would France regard that as a matter of internal policy with which it had nothing to do? It proceeds to point out that the first result of this new French doctrine would be to raise a formidable and possibly an insurmountable barrier to the extension of France in the Pacific. If it is clearly understood that when once the French flag flies over any island in Polynesia, the French Government thereby becomes possessed of indispensable rights to that island, and therefore to the offshoots of their garrisons, and therefore to the Marine Nationale, and to all the others who are in the colonies, then the French flag will be the law of the French, far over any new territories in their neighbourhood. "Further" (continues the Post Mall Gazette), "the Australians will probably desire that no Frenchman be allowed to land in the colonies without a passport certifying his respectability; while, if these safeguards are ineffectual, and bands of Frenchmen commit outrages in the bush, no authority at the antipodes would be able to prevent an outbreak of popular fury which might result in every Frenchman unable to give a good account of himself being struck up to the nearest tree. It rests with M. Ferry and his spirited friends to prevent the recurrence of such lamentable evils. If they content themselves with vigour in their diplomatic efforts, and pursue a strict and uncompromising policy, they may have a chance of success."

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

He retired next Friday to meet the Bishop of Sydney, and he also hoped that he should on that night have the pleasure of decorum with him the blue ribbon. He especially desired to thank Mr. W. F. Foster for his kindness and hospitality which had been extended to him during his stay. To the choir and chorister, and to all the others who had assisted in the work, he expressed his thanks. He was not sure but that in the columns of the press he should still be able to advocate the cause of the mission, although his health would not at present permit him to do so. He also intended to give a special meeting to thank the press for the reports and general criticism of the mission. He intended to keep the public very much awake while he was present, so that he could see that those who had assisted in the mission, and who had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

He retired next Friday to meet the Bishop of Sydney, and he also hoped that he should on that night have the pleasure of decorum with him the blue ribbon. He especially desired to thank Mr. W. F. Foster for his kindness and hospitality which had been extended to him during his stay. To the choir and chorister, and to all the others who had assisted in the work, he expressed his thanks. He was not sure but that in the columns of the press he should still be able to advocate the cause of the mission, although his health would not at present permit him to do so. He also intended to give a special meeting to thank the press for the reports and general criticism of the mission. He intended to keep the public very much awake while he was present, so that he could see that those who had assisted in the mission, and who had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech like that given by the chairman, and that he had signed the paper which was a strong enough testimony of the success of the work so far. He earnestly asked them not to slacken in their efforts but to persevere, trusting not in their own strength but in the strength of the cause. (Applause.)

Mr. Booth, amidst much cheering and applause, said he had never known a speech of men. The Board will send their report in the middle of May.

Mr. Bent, the Chief Secretary, informed a deputation from the Congregational Union, who urged a return of the Aborigines law, that he was hopeless in his efforts to secure its restoration.

He had tried to secure the vigorous application of the law, but had been unable to frustrate the efforts of the Aborigines. He said that the law, however, would only allow an appeal on the Arrival. Time (a), from Sydney. Said: Massillon (a), for New Zealand; post, Cheviot (a), for Sydney; post, Warragul (a), for Melbourne; post, Adelaid; Palms (a), for Launceston; Poldark (a), for Hobart; and Mr. A. for Tasmania.

The steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from Plymouth for Sydney with a cargo of general stores, was captured by pirates, passed Cape Otway at midnight, and did not arrive at Sydney.

QUEENSLAND.

BIRSBIE, Wednesday. The body of a sailor was found, a police and coroner's inquest was held, and the body was buried in the sand bank.

At a meeting of the Town and Country Meeting, yesterday, the speakers, in their judgment, of a most unsatisfactory state of the finances, the town not in course of time, and the town not in course of time, must be suspended until the present debt has been paid off.

The South Australian bound railway, a new line, was opened yesterday, and the steamer Tasmania will be the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, will be the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

The steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from Plymouth for Sydney with a cargo of general stores, was captured by pirates, passed Cape Otway at midnight, and did not arrive at Sydney.

QUEENSLAND.

BIRSBIE, Wednesday. The body of a sailor was found, a police and coroner's inquest was held, and the body was buried in the sand bank.

At a meeting of the Town and Country Meeting, yesterday, the speakers, in their judgment, of a most unsatisfactory state of the finances, the town not in course of time, and the town not in course of time, must be suspended until the present debt has been paid off.

The South Australian bound railway, a new line, was opened yesterday, and the steamer Tasmania will be the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, will be the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

The steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from Plymouth for Sydney with a cargo of general stores, was captured by pirates, passed Cape Otway at midnight, and did not arrive at Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

SYDNEY, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

The weather is rather unusual.

YARCK, Wednesday. The great interest

of the day is the arrival of the steamer Tasmania, of the British Line, bound from

Adelaide to Sydney, with a cargo of general stores, which has been held up by pirates, and is now

bound for Sydney.

Drapery, Haberdashery, &c.

ANTHONY HODDERN AND SONS' PALACE EMPORIUM, HAYMARKET (ONLY).
WINTER. 1884.
CHOICE WINTER GOODS.
WINTER NECESSARIES. WINTER REQUIREMENTS.

A MOST PRACTICAL DISPLAY
WINTER USE OF WINTER WEAR
THE PALACE EMPORIUM, HAYMARKET.

THE BEST BLANKETS
THE BEST QUILTS
THE BEST FLANNELS

THE PALACE EMPORIUM, HAYMARKET.

THE NEWEST MANTLES
THE NEWEST MILLINERY
THE NEWEST COSTUMES

THE PALACE EMPORIUM, HAYMARKET.

THE PRETTIEST FLOWERS
THE PRETTIEST FABRICS
THE PRETTIEST TRIMMINGS

THE PALACE EMPORIUM, HAYMARKET.

THE CHEAPEST CLOTHING
THE CHEAPEST BOOTS
THE CHEAPEST HATS

THE PALACE EMPORIUM, HAYMARKET.

THE CHOICEST LACES
THE CHOICEST RIBBONS
THE CHOICEST GLOVES

THE PALACE EMPORIUM, HAYMARKET.

ANYTHING AND EVERYTHING
YOU REQUIRE AT
THE VERY LOWEST PRICES

THE PALACE EMPORIUM, HAYMARKET.

NOTICE.

Owing to the alterations of the day for celebrating THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY, OUR ESTABLISHMENT WILL BE OPEN ON SATURDAY, JUNE 10, 1884.

THE BEST INDOOR AND OUTDOOR FURNITURE, &c., will remain closed on SATURDAY, JUNE 10, 1884.

OUR OWN DESIGNERS,
ANTHONY HODDERN AND SONS,
PALACE EMPORIUM,
HAYMARKET (ONLY).

UNIVERSAL PROVIDERS. UNIVERSAL PROVIDERS.

E X P O S I T I O N
VERY CHOICE MILLINERY.

THOMPSON AND GILES,
DENISON HOUSE,
invite the attention of their numerous
PARTONS AND VISITORS TO THE METROPOLIS

CHOICE AND EXTENSIVE DISPLAY
they are finding in their LARGEST WINDOW

SHOW ROOMS,
and direct attention to the ECONOMIC PRICES.

100 GUINEAS. Pretty English Military Bonnets.

50 GUINEAS. Black and Coloured Velvet Bonnets, hand-sewed to med.

50 GUINEAS. These comprise VELVET PLUMED AND CHIFFON PLUMED HATS.

50 GUINEAS. A large amount of PARISIAN MILITARY BONNETS in rich VELVET, with handsome PLUMES.

50 GUINEAS. THE TORERO Hat, as much worn, also the NEW JOCKEY, with square CROWN.

BREAKFAST CAPS, from 5s 1d.

AFTERNOON CAPS, from 6s 6d.

EVERYDAY CAPS, Edgeware Lace, from 10s 6d.

Beautiful ASSORTMENT OF FLOWER AND FEATHER HEAD-DRESSES.

THOMPSON AND GILES.

C O S T U M E D E P A R T M E N T Y.
DENISON HOUSE.

THOMPSON AND GILES invite attention to the GRAND ASSORTMENT OF COSTUMES they are exhibiting in their NEW SHOW ROOMS.

£2 9s 6d—All Wool Men's CHIN, trimmed NEW PLAIDS

4 GUINEAS—Cashmere Costumes, trimmed Mohr or Velvet

45 GUINEAS—Superb Paris Costumes, newest style

70 GUINEAS—Exquisite Black Marvelous Costumes, trimmed
Brocade and Chiffon.

8 GUINEAS—EXQUISITE CHIN, MILITARY COSTUMES.

EVENING COSTUMES, £1 10s—Pink, Red, & Rose, Yellow, trimmed Lace and Pearls.

4 GUINEAS—Special and Exquisite Novelties in Net's Veiling and GUNNERS—New shades in SURAH, trimmed Lace and Pompons.

A Large Choice of TULLE, NET, and LACE DRESSES, at very MODERATE PRICES.

THOMPSON AND GILES.

L A I R I T
THE PINE TREE IS THE TREE OF LIFE."

Who is Lairit?—The great German scientist and discoverer of the marvelous properties of the PINE TREE.

As a remedial agent for such diseases as
GOITRE, RHUMATIC, FROSTBITE, REINFECTION, TUBERCULOSIS, CANCER,

CHILBLAINS, SWELLING OF THE JOINTS,
&c.

DAVID JONES AND COMPANY
Supply the following
PINE WOOD PRODUCTIONS:—

Pine Wood Blankets
Pine Wood Bedding, &c., &c.

Pine Wood Drawers
Pine Wood Boxes, &c., &c.

Pine Wood Boxes—Ladie's—three sizes

Pine Wood Boxes—Ladie's—three sizes

Pine Wood Boxes—Ladie's—Gentlemen's and Youth's

